

6516205068.txt

I travel around 100,000 miles a year. The ability to bring up major cities traffic and weather at the push of a button is one of the best things to come along in ages. Right up there with GPS.

The XM is far better than the local stations because you don't have to wait for 1/2 an hour of local advertising and music to get a report.

In short leave XM alone.